The 1000 Hands installation project and the Wildflowers Clay Plaque project is open to all Marysville and Triangle residents and holiday home owners. Everyone is invited to participate in creating a bit of history, by making a hand impression in clay to form part of an installation as a symbol of us rebuilding our towns together.

Or, help carve one of 90 clay plaque depicting local flora, under the supervision of local community artist, Jeanette Jennings. The beautiful clay plaque interpretations of artist Alice Talbot's botanical illustrations are intended for the 5 Town Trails project.

More dates and venues to be rolled out throughout

2010. We are interested in hearing from community groups or organisations who would like us to come to you to participate.
